> END-TO-END ENCRYPTION

The simple card reader design allows merchants to "clip" it on and easily "clip" it off when necessary. Even though the clip is compact and very portable it is packed with the highest level of security. You can rest assured that every swipe done with the Clip uses encryption at the time of the swipe and it keeps the data secure and encrypted all the way to the processing gateway; that's true end-to-end (E2E) data encryption.
